

Group To Alleviate Smoking Pollution

Condominium owners who are experiencing problems with tobacco or marijuana smoke intrusion in their units may find the on-line suggestions provided in the Apartments and Condominium Tips section of this Web site useful. Be sure to review all covenants and governing documents to determine the process for instituting new policies. In some cases, a majority vote of the owners may be required. Educate owners and Board about the issue such as the danger of secondhand smoke, fire dangers, ventilation issues, etc. At mysmokefreehousing.org there are forms for documenting your efforts and letter-writing tips as well as other materials that may be helpful.

Other Suggestions:

- Attend your association board meetings and find out how decisions are made.
- Speak up during an open forum or ask your board to add time to the agenda to cover this topic.
